

In Memory Of

Major

GEORGE STOKER

Companion of St. Michael and St. George

Royal Army Medical Corps who died on 23 March 1920 Age 66

Order of the Medjidie (4th Class). L.R.C.S.I. 1876; MR.C.P.I. and MR.C.S. England, 1882; J.P. for Co. Kerry; Hon. Assoc. of Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England. Vice-Pres. (formerly Pres.) of British Laryngological Assoc.; Fellow of Med. Soc. of London; Member of Pathological and Clinical Socs.; Physician to London Throat Hospital; Hon. Medical Officer of Actors' Benevolent Fund. Formerly Surgeon to Hospital for diseases of the Throat (Golden Square); Surgeon in Imperial Ottoman Army; and Medical Officer to Bulgarian Relief Fund 1877. Acted as Chef de L'Ambulance du Croissant Rouge during Turko-Russian War 1876-8 (present at sieges of Shipka, Plevna, and Erzerum); and as Stafford House Commr. during Zulu War 1870-80 (medal). Initiated and organised Civil Hospital in S. Africa 1899-1900; and served as Second Surgeon Irish Hospital (Despatches, medal with three clasps, C.M.G.). Originator and pioneer of the use of Oxygen. Son of Abraham Stoker, of Dublin Castle, and of Charlotte Matilda Blake Stoker, of Coleraine; husband of Agnes Stoker (eldest daughter of The McGillicuddy of the Reeks, Co. Kerry), of 34, Marlborough Buildings, Bath.

Remembered with Honour

EXETER HIGHER CEMETERY

16.

|||||
COMMONWEALTH
WAR GRAVES
|||||

